AGONY AUNT

Dear Students!! Novelty in NoName!

In 2017 our whole editorial staff will be all for you. The Agony Aunt Column is our new project that will help you solve your problems quickly and pleasantly.

All you have to do is to put your sorrows on paper, then go to the library in room 208, on the second floor, and put it in the box.

Editors will try to help you and give some necessary advices, also based on their own life experiences. The most important thing is that everything will be anonymous. The Agony Aunt is available at your disposal from now.

First advices will be shown in the next issue of the NoName. C U then!

The Patriotic song competition

On Thursday 10th November a patriotic song competition took place in Banach high. This school's tradition was initiated by Rafał Szymczak – a history teacher and this year edition of the competition was dedicated to him to come back to school. Lately everyone has been talking about that ... I think it's needless to say that this competition was in honor of Polish Independence Day.

11th November 1918 is the day when Poland regained independence and WW1 finished because Germany gave up.

So every class had to choose a song that promotes patriotism or reminds the heroic behavior of the nation. Classes had real fun with planning and making songs. Of course there were usually sad songs but, in fact, singing with classmates was also a part of integration. Even in third classes! Preparations were really long and school assembly hall was still busy. This day was free of quizzes and tests.

The head referee in this year's competition was Mirosław Delost – a history teacher. It started. All students and teachers were kept in suspense.

All songs were sung ...The judges had problems awarding the winners, but they handled...

First classes turned out to be specially talented. They chose very interesting songs. In addition, really good stars shone on the stage outshined (not only in the first classes).

The competition showed that 1 „C” was the best group of the the youngest. I must admit, it was a great show, the song and choreography. Just a great ambitious initiative. And after all of these shows many people shared my viewpoint...

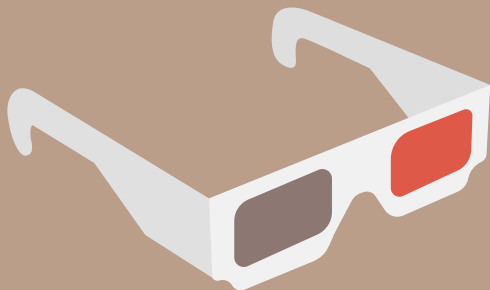

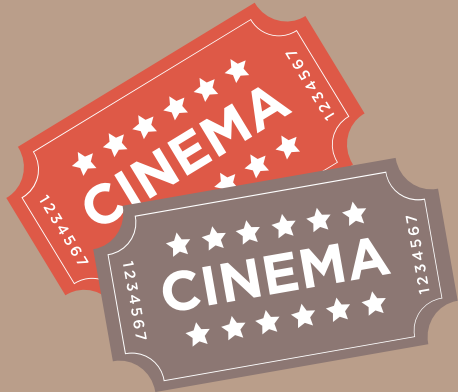

Second classes came out well,too ! Of the second year it proved that the best was 2 „B”.

Third classes were not worse from the rest but also have shown a good "class".

3 „A” was a winner. Their choreography and singing were amazing so I confirm that they deserved the prize ! All in all, everyone has done a good job. But all this was not about winning... The most important thing is to have fun, to demonstrate patriotic attitudes, to remind people about our history and to celebrate Independence Day ! At the end Mr.Furtak – PE teacher invited us to do push-ups all together...

Film review

New "Pitbull. Dangerous women" showed not as long ago and made a big impression. Two young female police officers joined Pitbull. Girls have to deal with their private lives and the criminal world. Patryk Vega definitely made a good movie. It's really chaotic even more than the first one but he meant to show the real brutal truth about police world and gangsters. If there is gonna be a fight has to be full of blood, pouring guts and someone has to be dead. If we talk about money it has to be as much that we need to weigh it not count it. Americans talked about movies like that: guilty pleasure, cheesy but you can't look away from the screen.

"Worst Christmas"

We are announcing a competition for the "Worst Christmas" story. Your work should have maximum 300-400 words. Send your story to nonameLObanach@gmail.com with title "Christmas Story" till 20th December. We will pick one winner from every class (seniors, middle and freshmen). The prize will be an excellent mark (6/2) from your English teacher. Results and winning stories will be published in our next issue in January.

HOW ABOUT SOME CRACKER JOKES?

What do you call an obnoxious reindeer?

What do you call an old snowman?

What nationality is Santa Claus?

What did Adam say on the day before Christmas?

What goes 'oh, oh, oh'?

What do you call Santa when he stops moving?

You can find the answers at the end of this issue!
