NO NAME

WELCOME BACK

Since spring is just around the corner (though judging by the recent weather it might not seem like it is) we thought it's the high time we gave you a new issue of No Name. Enjoy.

A special meeting

On The International Women's Day we had a chance to meet with American soldiers that are currently stationed in our city. I'm pretty sure you all know about them, you can see them pretty much every day, when coming home from school or just hanging out with bunch of friends. On March 8th, four U.S. Army troops came to visit our school, and we had a chance to meet them. Two of them were U.S. Army Officers. We all had a great time and managed to ask them a few questions, take some photos and exchange ideas about different topics.

Student: Have you ever been to Poland before?

Soldier: Yes, once. I was in Kraków. It was such a beautiful city. Also a lot of history there. It is the biggest city in Poland as I remember.

Student: Yes, I think that's right. Also, have you ever tried any traditional Polish dishes?

Soldier: Yes, I think... how was it called, Pierogi? Is that the proper name? It was amazing, I loved it. We love Polish food. Actually, we are looking for restaurants with traditional Polish food. Oh yeah, also, can you guys name something we should try?

Students: Most definitely bigos. It's really good, you should definitely try it.

Soldier: I think I've heard about it before. A friend of mine who now works in German army told me about it. I was looking for restaurants which serve it, but couldn't find any.

Students: Actually, you can try it in our school's cafeteria, they serve traditional Polish food, including bigos.

Soldier: That would be great!

Teacher: Okay, thank you for an interview, but I'm afraid that we have a limited time. We would also like to invite you to a meeting with the rest of teachers, and would be happy if you'd like to join us at our school's International Women's Day concert.

Soldiers: Thank you very much.

After our interview, soldiers went to meet the rest of teachers, and had a short talk with 3rd grade students. Later, they had a chance to take part in International Women's Day concert prepared by our school's students.

Film review

"Are you water or a player?" the Nerve has asked us. If you saw a trailer of this film you will probably know mostly everything about the plot. An industrious high school senior, Vee Delmonico, has had it with living a life on the sidelines. When her friends start to be interested in a new on-line game of the truth and dare, she decided to join it to show everyone, or maybe herself, that she is not the outsider. But as she finds herself caught up in the thrill of adrenaline-fueled competition partnered with a mysterious stranger, their every move starts to become manipulated by an anonymous community of "watchers".

All about happiness

What is happiness for you?

„It's a really difficult question... for me happiness is when you enjoy every second in your life and make your dreams come true” ~ Iga

„Being surrounded by great people, being able to do what I love, find my way in life, travel the world, eat amazing food, see beauty in little things. That's what happiness means to me” ~ Ola

„Happiness is when I get an extra pizza sauce!” ~ Dominika

„Spending time with people we love. And love ourselves! ~ Patrycja

„Happiness is everything that makes me smile and excites me” ~ Monika

Do you think that money can buy happiness?

„Absolutely not! The most important things in life that may make you feel happy are moments that you are spending with your family or friends. Not material things! Not in the least for me...” ~ Martyna

„Money can't buy happiness, but shopping already can!” ~ Gosia

„I mean... yes. If you have money you can make your dreams come true easily.” ~ Paula

„For me money can only fulfill your needs, but it cannot buy you happiness. The only way money can buy enjoyment is, if you spend it on people you love” ~ Ola

„It depends on things that make us happy. There are lots of things that we can't buy, but also a lot for which we must pay, for example concerts. You are obviously not happy because of the ticket itself, but cause of the memories” ~ Monika

As you can see, there are some interesting answers. Opinions are divided, but everyone is right.

Comic

First part of our new comic series

Enjoy!

Next part coming soon.

Everyone says : „Money does not bring happiness.” It is common knowledge that people are still looking for money and that expensive things are desirable and important to them. So what is it about ?

Let us examine the issue ...

Firstly, we need to know what money gives and what makes us happy. People save money to buy material things that make them happy.

Of course, everyone wants to be rich.

Moreover, we need to accept that the goal gives happiness, not money, money plays a very important role in achieving the goal that gives you piece of happiness.

For example : if you want to learn Spanish, to spend long, dream holiday of a lifetime, you have to spend a lot of time and of course money.

On the other hand, there are people who think that there is happiness without money, however, we do not see it. The true happiness is shown in kindness and honesty.

In addition, poor people can be happier than rich people because they enjoy what they have.

Maybe they do not have money, maybe they do not have homes or food but they are still happy.

All in all, money has a role for humans but it cannot be the happiness. Money makes our life easier, however, happiness does not mean 'comfortable life'.

I would suggest that every man has its own way. Money can help people achieving their aim even if we are able to do this in another way...
